

Directions to the Loading Docks

The street address for the Hyatt Regency Chicago is on E. Wacker Drive, but the driveway entrance to the hotel's lobby is on N. Stetson. The Hyatt's loading dock is also on Stetson, but two levels down.

To be more specific, the names of the stacked Stetson Aves (in descending order) are

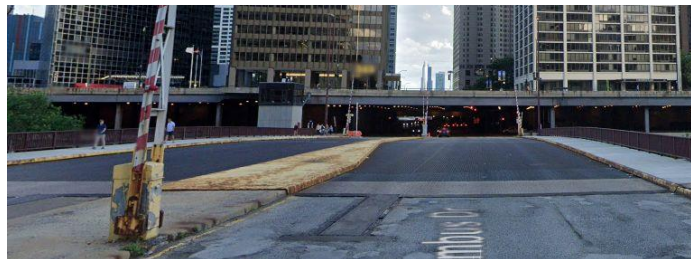

- N Stetson Ave (entrance to Hyatt)
- Lower Stetson Ave (and Valet Parking)
- Stetson Service Ave (and Loading Dock)

(at least, that's how Google Maps names them)

The loading dock is on Stetson Service Ave. Unfortunately, Google's directions for getting there are wrong (the multiple levels of overlapping streets confuses it). So we recommend following the Hyatt's written directions from the Interstates (below).

Once you cross the river, Columbus Drive becomes Lower Columbus Drive.

Going from Columbus to Lower Columbus.

View of South Water Drive and Lower South Water Drive, showing the ramp from Columbus Drive to Lower Stetson Ave. The ramp from Lower Columbus Drive to Stetson Service Area is hidden behind it.

If you'd like to tip a bellman to bring your stuff to the Exhibit Hall, instead turn right on to Lower South Water St, avoiding the ramp, and then turn right onto Lower Stetson. The entrance for valet parking will be on your right. Valet parking is $39.50/day. For details see the Parking page.

Directions to the Hyatt's parking garage from the Hyatt's loading docks.

- Turn left out of the Hyatt's loading docks
- At the stop sign, go up the ramp that is located on your left
- Turn left onto Lower Columbus Drive
- Turn left onto Lower Wacker Drive
- Turn left onto Lower Stetson Ave and the valet parking entrance will be on the left hand side.

There is also metered parking (no overnight parking allowed) on some of the streets surrounding the hotel (including the lower street levels). For other parking suggestions, see the Dealer Move-In letter and the Parking page.
